Ocean Beach, California

COMMENT and RUMOR

Residents of the south part of Ocean Beach, Sunset Cliffs and Azure Vista, tell us they would like a bench on Cable St. at Newport ave., opposite the Loftus real estate office. They believe the business interests of the beach should furnish this bench to make it more convenient for them to wait for the bus when they are loaded down with groceries and merchandise they have bought in our stores.

We have heard a good deal of favorable comment about establishing a hospital in this section of the city. The need is urgent for expectant mothers, for those who are seriously ill, and for those who suffer accident. There is no such thing as making reservations in San Diego's crowded hospitals where facilities are now crowded to the limit. Local organizations should get behind a move to establish a hospital on Point Loma or in the beach section for we now have some 20,000 people, many of whom would appreciate the convenience in case of illness or accident.

There seems to be a lot of fuss over establishing a college for women on the Bridges estate at Loma Portal, this section having been zoned as a residence area. We do not see how it will damage the values of property there for the sisters of the Order of the Sacred Heart to have their school along this main city artery. There is already the Point Loma high school within a couple of blocks and the Loma Portal elementary school nearby. Just a tempest in a teapot for some fussy householders.

Ocean Beach merchants, especially those selling men and women's wear, are peeping up their windows a lot we note. And it will get our shopping area more business too. Outstanding this week are "Wagonwheels" at Marc's Sportswear, dressed up gaily with the latest in men's sports wear. Take a look at these windows and stop long enough to realize that the artist, Al Hunt, takes perhaps a half hour just to drape and fasten a shirt or garment to the display board. Many hours are spent arranging good window displays so they have an "eye appeal" to fastidious customers.

Rowdiness has been more than a little noticeable along Newport ave. in the evenings and has been called to the attention of city officials by our Chamber of Commerce.

One business man suggests that we have a foot patrolman from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. to care for those who have no respect for the rights of others. We know the city is short of help and so told this business friend, but he says it could be an older man, hired by the merchants, and given authority of arrest by the county sheriff or city.

Pork is rationed but the porkish tendencies of some people exists in plentiful quantity our business people are sorry to learn at different times through the day and night. The person who is not particular where he or she vomits or excretes needs a caretaker, and it sure is a shame the sights in some doorways and vestibules of business places are grown dark. The nuisance has grown to such an extent that one business has constructed a gate to his entrance, the gate being locked at night and unlocked each morning.

Your Spare Bedroom Needed by U.S.O.

Service men's relatives who visit them here always find it difficult to get a place to sleep and the Ocean Beach U.S.O. has many more calls for these accommodations than they can fill.

You will be doing a real service to these men and women if you leave your address or phone at the Ocean Beach U.S.O. whenever you have a vacant room—even though it be temporary. There is always someone who needs a place to sleep.

IN THE SERVICE--

News from our local boys in service as well as letters or excerpts of letters will be gladly published in this newspaper. Please bring them in for many service men receive the Ocean Beach News by mail weekly and are glad to hear of former friends.

Pfc. Howard R. Harvey, mountain infantry, and Cpl. Kenneth M. Harvey, infantry, army sons of Mrs. Evelyn E. Harvey, 4783 Voltaire, have been home together on furlough. Howard was home for the first time in 11 months and will be stationed at Camp Carson, Colo. On his second furlough home, Kenneth expects to be stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. Both are Point Loma high school graduates.

Cpl. Paul H. Thomson, U.S.M., has been transferred from Camp Elliott to Camp Beebe, Calif., with the commercial warfare school. His wife is residing on Pescadero ave.

Lieut. H. J. Gravelle, USMC, is reported as having been seriously ill since he went to San Francisco a few weeks ago but word to Mrs. Gravelle Wednesday says he has made a change for improvement now. Gravelle was with difficult combat units at Guadalcanal and the reaction since he returned home gave him a rather complete nervous breakdown. Mrs. Gravelle has been confined to her home with a severe case of influenza but reports her condition improving now.

Word from the bedside of Don Cochran who is again in Navy hospital here is not very encouraging. Don's heart ailment shows only slight improvement but family and friends hope for a better outlook.

Chief electrician mate Jesse MacBeth, whose home is at 4428 Narbansett ave., returned home Tuesday on a 20-day leave. MacBeth's hirsute adornment makes him look like he came from the Aleutians and had been there since days of '49. This Navy lad has been on an SC subchaser in the south Pacific for the past year. When his leave expires he is to go to Syracuse, N. Y., to a turbo-electric school.

William R. Adams, M.M., U. S. N., returned from Africa last Friday on a short leave, to visit his wife, Violet Adams and three children who reside on Pescadero ave.

E. C. Davis, C.C., U.S.N., who has served 18 months in the south Pacific, is visiting his wife, Lillian Davis, while on a 30-day leave from active duty.

Richard Remke, S. 1c, U.S.N., arrived Wednesday from England, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Remke, Pacific Beach and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Joe de Remke, 4591 Pescadero. He expects to be stationed at Treasure Island, San Francisco.

Enlisted as apprentice seamen are William P. Howell, 4569 Long Branch, and James M. Davis, 2115 Ebers st., both 17-year-old youths have been sworn in the U. S. Navy during the past few days. Lieut. B. S. Wendt, officer in charge of the San Diego Navy recruiting station, announced last week.

Now at Greensboro, N. C. for reclassification in the army air force is Pvt. Robert W. Logan, whose wife resides at 4461 Niagara st. Logan was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity at the University of Southern California, and was employed by Solar Aircraft Co. before entering the army in September, 1941.

Elvia M. Monton, 20, seaman second class, of 2819 Canon st., has been selected for Wave radio training at Miami university, Oxford, O., the 11th Naval district announced. Wave Monton was transferred to the Ohio school recently upon completion of basic training at Hunter college, Bronx, N. Y. She is the daughter of F. S. Monton, and a graduation of Point Loma high school.

Commissioned a second lieutenant in the army air corps, Albert G. Wynne, 22, son of Mrs. Mildred Dickinson, of 4475 Saratoga ave., will be stationed at Roswell field, N. M. His graduation exercises were at Ft. Sumner. He has three brothers and two step-brothers in service. Pvt. Wayne Wynne, 24, is in the Aleutians; Pfc. Marion Lee Wynne, 21, was captured at Wake island by the Japanese; Sgt. Harold Wynne, 19, a radioman-gunner with a B-24 bomber crew;

Corp. Robert J. Dickinson, 22, is engine repair instructor at Sheppard field, Tex., and James Allen Dickinson, 19, aviation machinist's mate, 1c, is somewhere in the Atlantic.

A long distance phone call from overseas, during the holidays, by Earl B. Wilcox, A.M. 3c U. S. N., to his mother, Mrs. Gladys B. Wilcox of 4931 Niagara, lasted 20 minutes. Earl has been with the navy 16 months and is now on duty in the South Seas. Mrs. Wilcox was overjoyed to hear her son's voice and to know that he is well. "I'm receiving the Beach News and sure glad to get it," he told his mother during their short visit by wire. Also that he had volunteered for south Pacific duty instead of having leave.

Lieut. W. R. de Lyre Former Dentist Here

Somewhere in New Guinea Dec. 27, 1943

Dear Heber and Lillian: Just got your letter with the calendar in it and thanks a lot for remembering me. Ethel probably has given you news of me already, so I won't go into any long details.

Our life here is rather rugged but not too bad. I live in a large open tent with three other officers. We do not have walls on the tent on account of the heat, however, when it rains I usually get my bed wet, many a night I wake up with rain in my face. I built myself a table out of old boxes and lumber and today finished a wardrobe closet which is a pretty good piece of work even if I say so myself and so I am fairly comfortable now. Naturally our other facilities are rather primitive. We have an enclosed men's hall and the food is tolerable as a whole and once in a while even good.

We have a daily paper here, "Guinea Gold" and I am enclosing a copy in this letter.

Three times a week we have movies which are free to us. The screen is out in the open and we sit under the cocoanut palms and banana trees, we look forward to these movies as they are our only contact with the U. S. A. Sometimes it starts to rain before the picture is over and every one scrams for home so often we don't see the end and have to wonder how it came out.

Swimming is good here, it is just like going into luke-warm water. I swim about twice a day. My mail is at last reaching me and yesterday I got eight letters all at once. Wish I had got them a day earlier for Christmas was sure a sad day and those letters would sure have helped.

Sure miss all you swell people at home but this thing can't last forever and some day I'll be able to be back with you. Please convey my greetings to the boys at Kiwanis. Wishing you a Happy New Year and lots of prosperity and health, I'll close now.

Your friend,

—DUKE.

Clyde Coull Also In New Guinea

New Guinea, Dec. 26, 1943

Dear Mr. Hartvigsen: I don't know if you will remember me or not but I was to see you when I was on my last leave before going overseas. That was six months ago.

A lot has happened since that time and I've done a good amount of travelling. I was in Australia a while and then came up here to New Guinea. I can't name parts or places I've been to, but already I have seen enough bombing, strafing, and enemy planes to make me heartily wish I was back in good old Ocean Beach again. Everything at home was so safe and happy that now it is hard to realize. Now when I hear a plane I look up and wonder if it is ours or not. It is surprising how soon you learn to sleep light as a cat over here. A fox hole is man's best friend!

I'll say one thing in thanks to all of you at home and that is for the way you keep us supplied in food, clothing, and lots of little extra luxuries. I'll bet no other army in the world had as nice a Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner as we did. The following is our Christmas menu: Roast turkey, brown gravy, baked potatoes, cranberry sauce, pickles, fruit cocktail, peach pie, white cake, candy, bread, fresh butter, preserves, oranges, sliced cheese, orange-grapefruit drinks, two cigars, salt tablets, Aterbrine and vitamin tablets!

Methodist Church Retires Church Debt

The Point Loma Methodist

church began the new year out of debt. Rev. James F. Roberts, pastor, announced that people in the community interested in clearing the indebtedness of the church gave gifts enough to pay off the indebtedness. When Rev. Roberts was appointed to the church in March, 1943, there was an indebtedness of over $3000. Careful planning and systematic budgeting of the finance committee cleared the indebtedness was liquidated. No formal campaign was inaugurated and no plea from the pulpit was made due to the initiative of Rev. Roberts' young adult class this money was partially raised and their spirit of willingness to serve the church became the incentive for others who desired to share in this work. The church is already making plans to help the spiritual needs of the people in the community.

Flag at Half Mast for Prominent Veteran

In memory of Howard S. Jopling, chief deputy tax collector, the flag at the Civic Center was flown at half-staff Wednesday.

Mr. Jopling died Saturday and funeral services were conducted yesterday with burial in Ft. Rosecrans National cemetery. A veteran of World War I, Mr. Jopling had served as chief deputy county tax collector since 1937.

ate better than you at home. I hope you all had enough thought. I wouldn't want to think I had it all.

This is very beautiful country. The place I am located reminds me a lot of our own San Joaquin valley. It's broad and flat with pretty blue, green and purple mountains on either side. We have lots of fresh fruit you people back home never tasted and you don't know what you are missing. There is nothing like papaya and cream or mangoes, guavas, passion fruit, cocoanuts, and bananas.

The jungle at night is a weird place, hundreds of different bird calls, crocodiles splashing and grunting in the river, rats as big as a house eat and of course the buzz of the inevitable mosquito. There are some big blue birds, larger than a chicken, that is wonderful eating according to Tojo. By the way, Tojo is a Filipino. We just call him that.

I received two Beach News papers and am very glad they have finally started to get through. It's really swell to get the old home town papers. I noticed the service column and thought someone might want my address so this letter is the result: I thought too that you might like to know I am getting your paper.

Sincerely yours,

Major George E. Bowers To be Laid at Rest

A prominent and active figure in the beach area and San Diego in the 1920's and until recent years, Maj. George E. Bowers, 65, died last Monday. Funeral arrangements are pending receipt of word from a sister in the east.

A veteran of the Spanish-American war, Maj. Bowers had served two terms in the California legislature, beginning in 1931. Recently he had been employed as a guard at the Naval Air Station.

After the Spanish-American war, he served with the Philippine constabulary for 1 year, attaining the rank of major. In World War I he was a captain of infantry.

Capt. Earle T. Massey Casualty in North Africa

Last week word was received here and verified on Wednesday this week by the war department of the death of Capt. Earle T. Massey, 38, of 4674 Saratoga ave., Ocean Beach, in the North African theatre. No details were received other than that he was buried in the American cemetery in Algiers. He was an administrative officer at headquarters of the Mediterranean air transport command army air corps. He had been in North Africa 18 months, having landed at Casablanca with the first contingent of American troops in the fall of 1942.

Capt. Massey had resided here for 15 years and had been on the faculty of the San Diego Army and Navy academy and Hoover high school. He held membership in the San Diego Army Reserve Officers' association. He was a graduate of U.S.C. Before going overseas he trained for several months at Denver and Springfield, Mass. He was a native of Missouri.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Grace G. Massey; a daughter, Barbara Jean Massey; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Massey, and a sister, Mrs. E. P. Chilton, all of San Diego, and a brother, Maj. Ivan Massey, of Pullman, Wash.

U.S.O. Directors Talk to Kiwanians

Lloyd D. Greeson, president of Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce and director of Ocean Beach U.S.O. for service men, was program chairman at Tuesday evening Kiwanis lunch meeting with Sheridan Haglund as guest speaker. Mr. Haglund is national director for the U.S.O. in San Diego county.

The speaker reported the attendance at U.S.O. clubhouses in this county to be one million a month which does not include special functions or programs.

The great problem Mr. Haglund states will be the adjustment of service men back to civilian life when the present struggle is over. He believes this will be more difficult for the nation than the change has been for the men into their service life.

The U.S.O. men invited men of the Kiwanis group to visit their local club and there to take an interest in talking with and advising or informing the boys about problems they had in mind. Many of the service men are anxious just to talk with home folks and morale is being built with these boys when they have someone to really "visit" with.

Robert Galvin was a guest of Dr. W. B. Oster.

Chamber Commerce Hears Councilman

An enthusiastic meeting with a good attendance is reported for Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce in their first meeting of the New Year last Monday evening.

Mrs. Charlotte Young, employee at Bank of America, was appointed secretary-treasurer and the fund was set aside for a $25 war bond that is to be given the first child born in Ocean Beach. This bond goes to little Kay Marie Provost, daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Provost, 4677 Saratoga ave., 6:24 a.m. Jan. 4. Presentation will be made at a time convenient to all parties concerned.

City Councilman Charles Dall gave an interesting talk on duties of the council and the city charter under which they operate. He pointed out that some improvements the city wished to make could not be done on account of charter restrictions.

The meeting authorizes a letter to the council in regard to the erosion on the beach here.

E. A. McKinnon, who anticipates starting a daily newspaper in San Diego in the near future, was a visitor at the meeting.

Litickers Buy Voltaire Street Business Property

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Liticker the first of this month purchased from George Despain the business property they occupy at 4955-57-59 Voltaire st. This is property which will continue to grow in value and the Litickers are to be commended for their foresight in obtaining business property where it is bound to bring them a fair return the balance of their days.

This business property has a 50-foot frontage and the Litickers have rented there for the past 10 years.

War Bond Dollars To Provide 1550 Navy Landing Craft

Dollars invested by San Diegans in E, F and G war bonds in the Fourth War Loan campaign beginning next week will be translated in terms of landing craft for the Navy, it was announced this week as plans were perfected for the biggest drive of the kind yet staged here.

Decision of the County War Finance committee to thus dramatize local participation in the national drive, he said, has been enthusiastically approved by Rear Adm. D. W. Bagley, commandant of the 11th Naval district. The committee also has adopted the ringing challenge, "Barge Ahead with War Bonds," as the campaign slogan.

The quota for the San Diego county area is $33,375,000, broken down into $19,375,000 of E, F and G bonds, for public buying, and $20,000,000 in types allotted to corporations and other large investors. Only the public purchases, it is announced by Philip L. Gildred, general chairman, will be earmarked for the landing craft. Achievement of the goal, he added, will mean the people of the area will provide 1550 barges for the invasions projected in this "Victory Year."

"In choosing a specific objective in this campaign we are again giving the public something definite to shoot at with their war bond dollars," Gildred declared. "Last Sept., in the Third War Loan, we equipped a division of Marines. Previously, our bond dollars financed the cost of a submarine to replace the lost Shark. Also to be remembered is the highly successful 'Buy Bonds for Bombers' campaign just a year ago."

City Ordinance To Govern Cardrooms

The city council Wednesday placed teeth in a proposed new city ordinance regulating San Diego cardrooms and probably will enact the measure next Tuesday, to become effective within 31 days.

No cardroom signs may be more than 1 1/2 feet high or more than six feet long, and the only lettering to be permitted shall be the word "cardroom" and the name of the person or persons to whom the operating license has been issued.

"We don't want these bright signs showing a hand of five aces, like some places have now," said Councilman Fred W. Simpson.

Number of tables in each establishment will be limited to five, at present, Councilman Simpson had suggested a limit of three, but conceded five would be satisfactory inasmuch as no operator may have more than one place of business.

No operator or employee of an establishment may play in a game. The employees will not be dealers but will be "referees," the council decided, and each table must have one.

All tables must be readily visible from the street, as in the present ordinance.

Councilmen yesterday sood by their action of Tuesday when they decided they would permit no cardroom syndicate to be built up, that draw poker would be the only game permitted and that house charges shall be five cents a hand.

To the People of this Community YOU CAN AFFORD IT

You can afford to buy Extra War Bonds during this Fourth War Loan Drive.

Everyone in this community knows incomes are higher than ever before — that both workers and farmers have more cash than ever before. Everyone knows that more than one member of hundreds of families are income earners — and everyone knows that increases in wages and salaries have far outstripped rising prices, and increased taxes. You can afford to buy Extra War Bonds.

As a matter of fact, you can't afford NOT to buy Extra War Bonds. If you spend your money for needless, scarce goods, you are increasing prices . . . if you want to help win the war you can't afford NOT to buy Extra War Bonds. If you want to help that boy in the service, you can't afford NOT to buy Extra War Bonds and if you want a silk-edges investment for your own future security, you can't afford NOT to buy Extra War Bonds.

Don't just do the expected—buy All the Bonds you can.

Pretty Flowered Rug And Bag From Rags

WHEN you have made one rag rug you will find yourself a member of an enthusiastic clan; counting the days until you fall heir to a dress of a particular color that fits into the design that is developing under your fingers. These enthusiasts also bleach materials to tone them down; they brighten others with dye; they antique some with tea and they have a wonderful time.

The sketch gives all the directions you will need to copy this fascinating braided rag rug with a flower medallion in the center. Or you may make two of the medallions, sew them together and add a braided handle for a knitting bag. Braid the fabric strips tightly and keep the work flat while you sew the circles for the roses and the loops for leaves; then sew them together. Use carpet thread double for this and for sewing the braided rows around the edge of the rug.

NOTE—This rug design is from BOOK 8 which contains 31 other things to make from scraps of fabric and other odds and ends. Price of book is 15 cents. Address:

BREAKING DOWN OUR NATIONAL DEBT

IN WASHINGTON we are given astronomical figures which, we are told, represent the government debt. That is what you and I, and all the men, women and children in America collectively, owe. No one, not excluding the secretary of the treasury, has any conception of the meaning of such a figure as $165,046,629,657. It represents the government debt as of October 31, 1943.

While that is the story of what we, collectively, owed on that date, it is not until we break it down to what each individual or each family owes, and must pay, that we begin to realize what it means. What portion of that sum is charged against Dad, Mother, Johnny, Mary and the baby tells us the real, the individual, story. On that basis, and going back a few years for comparisons, gives us some interesting and startling facts.

On March 31, 1917, each one of us, as citizens, owed only $12.36. That was a mere nothing. For the whole family it amounted to only $61.00. No need to worry about it. Dad could pay out for Mother, Johnny, Mary, the baby and himself any time he was asked for the cash.

Then, a week later, we stepped into World War I and immediately began spending real folding money. By the time we were through with that war and the peace terms were decided upon, August 31, 1919, each of us owed, as our share of the government debt, $250.18, a total of $1,250.90 for the family. That was something to worry about and we began saving our pennies, nickels and dimes so it might be paid and not kept hanging over our heads. We reduced it gradually up to December 31, 1930. At that date we had it down to $129.66 for each individual, with a total of $648.30 for each family of five.

WE REALLY START SPENDING

It was at that time we began spending money like drunken sailors. We paid out vast sums for raking leaves, for building Chic Sales specialties, for teaching girls to tap dance, the girls and boys to write poetry and plays or paint pictures, to produce movie shows and hundreds of other things that had never before been considered necessary. From that December 31, 1930, to November 30, 1941, we had again run ourselves into debt to the amount of $412.32 for each individual, $2,061.60 for the family. That was very, very serious. For many of us it was as much as the home was worth at a forced sale.

Then the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor and we could not save fast enough to meet the cost of war, with no possibility of reducing the debt we had incurred by our wild spending. By October 31, 1942, that indebtedness for each individual had jumped to $686.36, a total of $3,431.80 for the family.

The figures continued to climb and by October 31, 1943, each individual share of that national debt amounted to $1,203.71, and for the family the staggering sum of $6,018.55.

It is still increasing at a rate of about $50 a month for each of us, $250 for the family. By the time the Christmas bills must be paid it will be not less than $1,353.31 for the individual and $6,766.55 for the family.

In time it must, and will, be paid and each of us and each family will pay our share, directly or indirectly. You hold collateral covering some of that debt in the war bonds you bought. You expect them to be paid and they will be. The payments of the debt will extend over a long period of years. It is not only we grownups and Johnny, Mary and the baby who must pay but their children and grandchildren will fall heir to a part in that payment.

There will be no pennies, nickels, dimes or quarters for the piggy banks. They must, for many years to come, go toward paying the individual and the family share of that government debt.

IN THESE YEARS of high speed war production our national income is around 135 billions of dollars per year as against 90 billions as a maximum peacetime figure. If, when the war is over, we are to pay as we go, we must pay more than 45 billion a year as taxes. Today such a figure represents about one-third of our income. Should that income drop again to peacetime proportions it would mean that one-half or more of all we take in would be paid out in taxes. Certainly it is time to economize.

"YOU CANNOT FOOL all of the people all of the time" but the imported phoney lectures, with a deep voice and an air of knowing it all, can do a considerable job in that direction, while honest home talent would not have an audience.

AT THE LAST PEACE CONFERENCE Russia sat on the side lines and her interests were not considered. At the next peace table Stalin will be the Clemenceau of 1919, and like Clemenceau Stalin is very much a realist.

Leaders of New European Invasion Team

These are the men who will lead the long awaited Allied "second front" invasion of Europe. Left to right: Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied invasion armies; Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, deputy to Eisenhower; Lieut. Gen. Carl Spaatz, chief of all the American strategic air forces that will hit Germany from west and south; and Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, chief of the British land armies. Appointment of Tedder as Eisenhower's deputy indicated that air power was to be a major weapon in the battle to crush the fortress of Europe. Eisenhower, who had never before made a prediction in 13 months of warfare, announced as he left Algiers to assume his new post that "we will win the European war in 1944."

Nazi Soldiers Appear Happiest When Not Fighting

Nazis Preparing for 'H' Hour

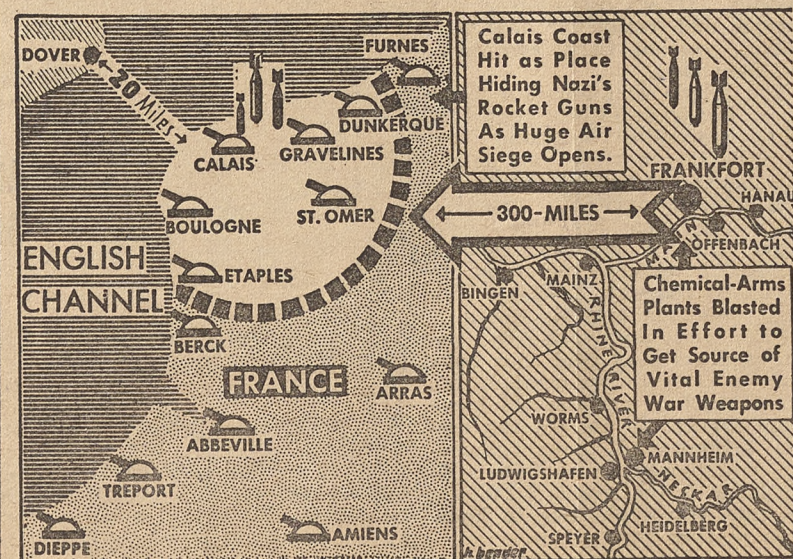

Field Marshal Von Rundstedt, who commands German forces in western Europe, is shown as he inspected a sector of the "Atlantic wall" defenses recently. The entire war psychology of Germany apparently has passed from the offensive to the defensive and constant predictions were being made by Nazis as to the date of an Allied invasion from England.

The Road Home

Rome to Berlin, and then home—that, apparently, is the route most servicemen in Italy want to travel. This sign printed there by Yanks when off duty tells the distance to Austin, Texas, via that route. Jugoslavian troops were reported to be invading Italy from the north.

Where Bombs Are Stopping Rockets

It's Allied bombs against German "rockets" in area at left where the Germans are believed to have mounted emplacements from which to launch their 50 ton projectiles at England. Right: Points in Germany that have been heavily bombed by Allies to wreck sources of these rockets.

Butter Defects

Although objectionable flavors are mostly noticeable in eating butter, defects in body and structure also are objectionable and hurt the appearance of the butter. These defects are weak, greasy, salty, crumbly, and mealy bodied butter. Some of the causes of these faults are inadequate cooling of cream and excessive working of butter; working excessively while soft, too high churning temperature, or allowing the butter to get warm before working; overworking while the butter is firm, especially if worked without water; and churning sour cream which has been held at high temperature.

Honey Storage

Store honey by keeping it in a warm dry place where the temperature is 75 degrees Fahrenheit or over, or in a cold place where the temperature is below 55 degrees.

Keep in Ground

Keep hardy vegetables in the ground until there is real danger from a sharp freeze.

Sea-Going Speedometer

A sea-going version of the speedometer now automatically and accurately records the speed and distance traveled by our hard-hitting battleships.

In addition to indicating the ship's speed in knots, this robot totals in nautical miles the distance traveled by a ship from a given bearing. It also aids in the measuring of the draft and the trim of the ship and other factors that are important for navigation and gunfire control.

The Morning Star

Pennies donated by Sunday school children provided the funds to build an auxiliary barge for the American Board of Foreign Missions when they decided in 1934 to carry light to the heathen in the Southern Pacific.

A peculiar characteristic of the Morning Star, which was a combined sailing and steam craft, was a mainmast which was a hollow spar, serving both as a mast for the sail and a smoke stack.

In keeping with her religious purpose, the figurehead was a beautifully carved, draped figure of a woman holding a Bible in her left hand. On the stern was a large silver star radiating brilliant golden rays.

Liquefy Honey

Liquefy honey by placing the container in a bowl of warm water until all crystals are melted.

Say Sulfa Drugs Cannot Be Used Indiscriminately

Sulfa drugs, though among the foremost life-saving developments of this generation, may cause serious nutritional disturbances if used indiscriminately.

C. A. Elvehjem and his associates at the University of Wisconsin have reached that conclusion on the basis of animal experiments they have been conducting with the drugs. These men found that white rats, fed a ration on which they ordinarily thrive, stop growing and develop vitamin deficiencies when certain sulfa preparations are added to the diet for several weeks. Indications are that the drugs destroy intestinal bacteria which aid nutrition by manufacturing vitamins.

Trials by Elvehjem and Beverly Ransome show the ill effects of succinyl sulfathiazole can be prevented or cured by including in the diet two of the "newer" B-complex vitamins, biotin and folic acid. When rats are not given the sulfa preparation, they thrive on rations lacking these vitamins.

In a study to learn what effect sulfa drugs have on the intestinal tract, Elvehjem, Elizabeth McCoy and Ola Gant learned they cause a sharp decrease in the numbers of certain bacteria normally present.

Changes not only occurred in the contents of the intestinal tract, but also in the cecum and colon themselves.

'Superman' Recovers

Recovering from wounds received on Bougainville is Pfc. Robert E. Lansley, who is another of those fighting men with the nickname, "one man army." He cleaned up two enemy machine gun nests with the aid of a marine dog and another raider.

Those First Americans

Those first Americans, our founding fathers of Free America, pictured on page 3 of this issue of the Ocean Beach News, knew what they were fighting for, and that is more than some of us know exactly about the present world struggle, however, we do realize that we are fighting to preserve our American freedoms, which were threatened. This advertisement on page 3 is an Americanization project of Kiwanis International, sponsored locally by the Ocean Beach Kiwanis club, to "KEEP HIS AMERICA AMERICAN."

A gesture to the men and women in service of our country, that they shall not be "forgotten men" when time for honorable discharge comes.

In present day conditions exist challenge after challenge to our democratic way of life, to our democratic form of government, to our free enterprise system of commerce and industry. American freedom is the touch-stone of the remarkable achievements of this nation. This American freedom of individuals and enterprises is worth fighting to perpetuate.

America is a young nation. We have only 6% of the world's population, yet we own 30% of the world's wealth and have 36% of the world's income. Back of such achievement for so young a nation had to be plan and design—a solid foundation, a sturdy framework, an abiding idealism. Other nations had more people, more resources, more experience, centuries of opportunities. What did we have, then, that other nations—other peoples did not have? What was the great fusing agent which accounts for our amazing rise to greatness?

Freedom! Freedom for man and his posterity; freedom guaranteed by our Constitution; freedom to worship; freedom to speak and think and write; freedom to work and earn and spend; freedom of enterprise; freedom to choose and shape our own destinies; freedom to want more than we had; freedom to acquire more to satisfy those wants; freedom to harness our resources and to use our resourcefulness for our own betterment and for the common good.

"Mind Your Own Business"

No man in this country, including the President, has done more during the past few years toward promoting more friendly relations between this Nation and Russia than the globe girdling author of "One World," Wendell Willkie—and it was something of a political bombshell, therefore, when the official Communist Party organ, Pravda, took occasion last week to tell Mr. Willkie to mind his own business.

The reason for Pravda's outburst seems to have been an article by Mr. Willkie discussing the status of Poland and the Baltic States. "Our principal objective," said Mr. Willkie, "must now be to persuade Russia to accept and give the guarantees of a general organization in which she and we are both members, rather than to seek her own protection by political and military control over adjoining territories."

The Soviet organ barked back that the Baltic question was the business of the Soviet Union—and not Mr. Willkie's. There was also a broad intimation, in the Soviet declaration, that it was no business of the United States. "As to Finland and Poland," said Pravda, "the Soviet Union knows how to deal with them, and does not need help..."

Some Americans will agree that Russia is right; that it isn't any of our business what happens in the Baltic States, or Poland, or Finland. Others will argue that if we don't want to go through the whole ghastly business again in 10 or 20 years, we have to make it our business.

We must shortly come to grips with questions of international policy that may shape the destiny of our country for generations.

Babson Discusses Postwar Jobs

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 7.

—I want to start 1944 by writing to the millions of service men's wives. So many of you are wondering what your husbands are doing after their return. Certainly, you should not wait until your man gets back before you and he discuss the future. Why not devote to this subject your very next letter to him? Perhaps you will send him this message from me.

Former Employers Will Be Helpful

If your husband had a job when he was drafted, the chances are nine out of 10 that his former employer will be proud to take him back. Not only does the Draft Act require this of employers who are able to do so, but employers will find it good business. This will mean that many women and girls will be obliged to quit industry; but this will be only fair and just.

I wonder, however, if your husband will be content to again be a mere cog in a big wheel after he returns? Men differ. Some are born to work for others and will be happier doing so; while some men will do better in a little business by themselves. Some prefer large cities; while others like small cities and towns. Don't try to make your soldier's over into someone else. Try to find out what he likes best; for what he is best fitted and then help him make good. But begin your planning NOW; don't wait until he gets home.

Big Opportunities Everywhere

Opportunities exist today which will not exist after the War is over. I see them everywhere! I go—vacant stores, closed real estate offices, run-down garages and auto sales rooms, etc., etc.

As an illustration, consider the closed and boarded-up filling stations which can be bought today for a third of their cost. To buy now one of these, properly located where a family can live on the property, is like finding money. After the War, they will again be "worth their weight in gold."

Small stores and lunch rooms, where the owner can live upstairs or adjoining, are now on sale cheap. They will be in big demand after the War. No one will get rich in such a place; but it gives independence and assures work to all the family. The same applies to scores of little businesses from barber shops to repair shops of all kinds. There will always be good opportunities for anyone who knows more about any one thing than anyone else in his neighborhood. Yes, it is very easy today, through trade papers and technical journals, for anyone, willing to study evenings, to become a real expert.

Good Land is Good Insurance

I think that a piece of land will appeal to many returning soldiers. They have seen that it is for land that this War is being fought. If they are wise, they will want a little themselves. Now, don't buy your husband any isolated land in the woods. Buy within easy walking distance of schools, stores and a church; also reasonably near his job or a business to his job; don't make him dependent on an auto. Incidentally, the easiest property to sell in every community is that adjoining a good, live church. Sensible parents like to bring up children near a church.

If you and your husband came from a farm and want to go back to it, this is wonderful. However, unless you know farming, you had better be content with an acre or two of good land located as above suggested. Don't buy too much land. Better pay $500 for any acre of rich land nearby than $50 per acre for poor land further out. The number of acres is of little importance. The value of land lies in its richness and location. The latest scientific agricultural experiments indicate that you can feed your family on a very small plot provided your husband has some "job on the side" to get spending money to explain this. These interested should send one dollar to Fleming H. Revell Company, 158 Fifth Ave., New York City for a little book entitled, "Better Living For Less Money."

Buy Merchandise and Bank Stocks

In almost every community there are one or more stores belonging to some national chain. They may be grocery chains or variety chains such as the "5 cents to 5 dollar" kind. Ask your local banker to tell you which of those in your town has its stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Buy a few shares. They should be a good hedge against inflation and might also help your husband get a job at merchandising with a growing concern.

Perhaps before buying a chain store stock, it would be well to buy a few shares of stock in your local bank. Now, banks are making very little money, but banking is fundamental. Bank stocks will some day look good again. Besides, it may help your husband get started right to have a few shares of local bank stock and to know the men who run the bank.

Parents Should Help More

Soldiers who go overseas are coming home with better ideas than when they left. They are learning that much upon which they had heretofore spent time and money was sheer waste. Many will realize that the only things worth while for a family or a nation are: (1) good land; (2) good babies; (3) good education and (4) good character. All else, however much advertised, is only baloney.

I trust that fathers and mothers, as well as wives and sweethearts, will encourage these sensible ideas. Only by so doing can America hope to get something back for the lives and billions spent on the War. Parents, especially, should loosen up and let their young people get started right when they return. Begin to plan for them NOW; remember, "shrouds do not have pockets."

A Final Thought

Has it ever occurred to you to get a job with the understanding that your husband can have it upon his return? This is a practical idea. It should appeal to every sensible employer and housewife. You first choice should be where he was employed when leaving for the service; your next choice should be where you would like to have him employed. But the important thing is to forget your wishes and present pay—think only of him!

Vermont Governor
Scores Those Who Oppose Willkie

Republican Governor William H. Wills of Vermont in a prepared speech last week said it would mean suicide for the Republican party to allow a handful of Republican bosses to prevent the nomination of Wendell Willkie for President at the G.O.P. convention this year.

The Vermont governor emphatically took issue with Republicans who believe the party could "win with anybody" and flatly asserted that "Wendell Willkie is the only Republican certain to beat the strongest Democratic candidate." Appealing for fair play in the convention, Wills said:

"If Willkie is given an honest chance to win the Republican nomination and loses it, our party will still be one of which we can be proud, even though we go down to defeat at the polls with a lesser man as candidate."

"If, however, he becomes the victim of smart political manipulation in a stop-Willkie drive, with a handful of bosses dominating the Republican national convention in 1944 as they did in 1920, I fear for our survival. Such a course, I fear, means suicide for the Republican party."

Wills delivered a sharp attack upon what he termed "the four-year locusts of Republican politics," who, he said, clouded the victory crops raised in recent Republican victories in states and congressional districts.

"From what I read in the papers," he added, "this cloud had some leaders and some spokesmen."

"I do not have to tell you who they were: There was Alf Landon, John Hamilton, Joseph P. Sen. Nye and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, and, of course, the metropolitan McCormick-Patterson newspaper axis. They are loud. They were angry. They indulged in much loose talk."

"These political locusts of whom I speak," Wills continued, "had nothing constructive to say. They agreed on no candidates. They simply agreed in their hatred of the outstanding Republican of our times—Wendell Willkie."

Asking on what grounds "these few discredited mouthpieces of reaction base their charges that Willkie is not a Republican," Wills said, "Up here in Vermont, where our Republicanism is unchallenged, we hail Wendell Willkie as a great Republican."

Wills, describing Willkie, as "a liberal but no star-gazer," asserted he could give leadership "better than President Roosevelt, better than any other prominent Republican challenger."

"For only Willkie packs a wallop in both fists," Wills said, "Roosevelt's right arm is in a sling labeled 'domestic shortcomings.' In a sling, too, is the left arm of every Republican challenger except Willkie, and this sling is labeled, 'no foreign policy.'"

"No sling hampers Willkie. Both arms are free. Willkie's left glove is stamped 'sound foreign policy,' his right glove is marked 'sound domestic policy.'"

On Monday, Jan. 10th, the monthly meeting of District 7 was held at the Assembly of God church. Mrs. Mae E. Heidbrink, leader of sector A.A., presided in the absence of Mrs. J. P. Miller, district leader. Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Miller who has just suffered the loss of her mother, Mrs. Marie A. Field.

Mrs. Fraser spoke of the work well done by our district in the last two years and outlined the work for the year now at hand, which is our third year. She said there was being printed some booklets on the work for district outlined by Mrs. Miller. These booklets will be distributed as soon as they are ready. You will find the full year's program in the "Defender."

This will be a crucial year for Americans and we must lay aside our routine way of living and give all our time to winning this war. There is so much to be done. Our boys need help so badly from the home front. Wounded are coming in fast and surgical dressings must be made for them and also those at the front. Will every woman please go to the Marine base or Loma Portal one day at least each week and make dressings. Make a date to go to the Blood Bank. Call F-7704. Get sewing and knitting from your local Red Cross center. Make your jeep robes and slippers, slippers and more slippers. These materials you will find ready cut at your local Red Cross.

This year finds us all with extra work and added responsibilities in war work and it is for this reason that this will be the last Defense column that I will write for you.

It has been a pleasure for me to write it and I have enjoyed working with each and every one of you and appreciate your co-operation. You have done a fine work in the past two years and I am sure that in 1944 you will do more and greater things.

This is 1944!

WHAT WILL YOU DO TO MAKE IT THE VICTORY YEAR?

The Goal - VICTORY

The Place - EUROPE

The Time - THIS YEAR

The Responsibility - YOURS

YOU KNOW that this year may bring great victories—if every American, civilian as well as soldier, stands loyally at his or her post. And, whatever else your duties may call for, there is one job that concerns every citizen—that concerns you: That is to help make 1944 one of the decisive years of human history. So make whatever sacrifice may be necessary to help make the 4th War Loan Drive the success it must be if we are to realize our great objectives this year.

Ask yourself honestly—how much of a sacrifice is it to give up some luxury just temporarily in order to buy the best investments in the world? When you've answered that question, buy at least one extra $100 Bond now—at your office or plant, if possible. And if you've already bought, buy again this month—and keep 'em!

This sticker in your window means you have bought 4th War Loan securities!

Let's All BACK THE ATTACK!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazis Reel Under Combined Pressure Of Heavy Air Attacks and Sea Losses; New Air Blows Strike Japs in Pacific; Fifth Army Steps Up Assaults in Italy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

New Britain—Map shows points of U. S. landings on New Britain island at Arawe on south and Cape Gloucester on north. (See: Southwest Pacific.)

INVASION: Eisenhower Commands

Hitler's high command shuttled troops in western Europe as America's four-star Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower assumed command of Allied forces and the stage was set for the big second front.

Britain's Air Chief Marshal Arthur Tedder stood at General Eisenhower's side as deputy commander, with Britain's Adm. Bertram Ramsay as the leader of naval forces, and Britain's Air Marshal Trafford Leigh-Mallory in charge of all air forces.

As the Allies' supreme command buried itself in the mass of invasion detail, the tensed Germans reported heavy aerial bombardment of their channel fortifications and Commando attacks along the French coast to test their defense. As the Germans awaited the grand assault, said Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel: Our defenses are technically correct.

FORTRESS EUROPE: Step Up Action

Bringing heavy artillery into play, Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth army blasted the Nazis from strong points blocking the 75-mile road to Rome, while farther to the east, the British clambered past the enemy's Adriatic bastion of Ortona, won after more than a week of vicious street-to-street fighting.

As U. S. and British troops punched their way through the Nazis' stiff mountain defenses in southern Italy, aerial and naval warfare in Europe stepped up.

Fleets of Allied bombers winged their way over the English channel to pound Nazi fortifications along the French coast, and the RAF rained another 2,234 tons of explosives on battered, hapless Berlin.

Following the British home fleet's sinking of the 26,000-ton Nazi battleship Scharnhorst off North Cape, Norway, light Allied and German naval units tangled in the Atlantic off the French coast, with airplanes being called into play to help sink three enemy destroyers and a speedy blockade runner.

RUSSIA: Reds Advance

Delivering trip-hammer blows all along the 800-mile Russian front, Red armies surged forward again in the south as Germany's harassed high command shifted forces to check the big push.

The Reds' heavy blows in the south fell as German resistance stiffened in the north around Vitebsk. Quickly shifting the gravity of their attack, the Russ struck on a 110-mile front in the south, first punching hard at Zhitomir, then punching still harder above that railway hub at Koresten.

This winter's Russian offensive was a real slugging match, with each side in the south primarily concerned with exhausting the other.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: Bombings Jar Japs

Japan's great air and shipping base of Rabaul on New Britain came within closer range of U. S. bombing planes with the marines' capture of two air strips on Cape Gloucester on the western end of the island.

Following up heavy bombing which helped crumple the enemy's strong line of pill-boxes, the marines stormed remaining Jap positions with flame throwers. As the marines advanced at Cape Gloucester, elements of Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth army encountered heavy resistance at Arawe to the south.

The Allies made increasing use of air power to jar the Japs loose on the wide Pacific front, dropping gasoline tanks on enemy strong points on Bougainville and sending fleets of bombers to pound installations on the Marshall islands.

AGRICULTURE: Meat Production

Farmers received an all-time high of four billion dollars for livestock slaughtered under federal inspection in 1943 as meat production also reached an all-time high of more than 24 billion pounds.

Fifty per cent more meat was produced than during the 10-year pre-war average, but after allocations to the government, civilian consumption was held to the prewar rate of 132 pounds per person. Because of rationing, however, supplies were more evenly distributed than formerly.

Meat output for 1944 was estimated at 25 billion, 600 million pounds, of which 8 billion, 500 million pounds will be required for military and lend-lease purposes.

CCC Program

To help stimulate production and fulfill commitments to support crop and livestock prices, the Commodity Credit corporation spent 3½ billion dollars during the 1943 fiscal year.

As of December 18, CCC possessed 32,898,338 bushels of wheat under 1942 loan, while 96,101,516 bushels were redeemed. CCC wheat stocks at that date totaled 86,928,000 bushels.

Principal objective of the CCC's 1943 program was to increase the production of vegetable oils, dairy and poultry products and meats, and at the same time to underwrite OPA price ceilings.

U. S. NAVY: 42 Carriers

The U. S. finds itself well equipped as naval operations throughout the world quicken, with Uncle Sam's navy boasting of 42 aircraft carriers, including sleek destroyer-escorts for protecting convoys. The U. S. started the war with seven.

Corsair and Hellcat fighter planes taking off from the carriers' decks have increased their striking power, and a deadly new dive bomber has been put in service. During 1943, the navy trained twice as many pilots as in 1942, and three times as many combat planes were sent to the front.

During 1943, arming of merchant ships was speeded, 4,000 now being outfitted with weapons.

Absorb Light

Dust and dirt on bulbs, diffusion bowls, and shades absorb valuable light—as much as 20 per cent—so keep them clean.

Fish Consumption

Americans consume only 13.3 pounds of fish per year per person, while the Japs eat 53 pounds a year each.

Milk Deliveries

Fifty million quarts of fresh milk daily reach consumers through stores or home deliveries alone.

Fiber Cases

Fiber cases are rapidly replacing wooden containers for vegetable shipments.

Serve Visual Needs

Serving the visual needs of America are 17,618 optometrists; 11,391 eye, ear, nose and throat physicians, and 1,750 ophthalmologists.

Dehydrated Shipments

The equivalent of 200 head of cattle—in the form of dehydrated beef—has been shipped in a single airplane.

Quebec's Snowfall Estimated

Seldom if ever does the annual snowfall in Quebec province amount to less than 100 inches.

Dairy Cows

There are more than 26 million cows on three quarters of the nation's six million farms.

Old Practice

The drying of foods has been practiced for centuries, the authors say, and dried vegetables were used during the Civil war to prevent scurvy.

Cuts Returns

Souring cream on the farm decreases its market value, reduces the returns to the producer, and is a detriment to the butter industry.

Farrowing Mortality

About a third of all pigs farrowed die within the first three months due principally to negligence and the wrong kind of feeds.

Early Use of Henna

Henna was used in Cleopatra's time to dye fingernails, palms of the hands, and soles of the feet.

Milk Consumption

Milk and its products comprise over 25 per cent of the 1,700 pounds of principal foods consumed each year by the average American.

Separate Quickly

If separation is done on the farm, milk should be separated as soon as possible after it has been milked, especially in winter.

Dairy Products

Milk, butter, cheese, ice cream and other dairy products annually create an output valued at 5½ billion dollars.

Income Source

Milk is the largest single source of farm cash income—bringing in $2,332,253,000 to farmers in 1942.

More Food

In spite of rationing the American people consume approximately 8 per cent more food per capita than they did in the boom years of '28 and '29.

Avoid High Temperatures

Avoid excessive temperatures which hasten corrosion and increase scale deposit from hard water.

Supplied Hemp

Until the Japanese occupation, the Philippines furnished 85 per cent of the world's supply of hemp.

Furnishes Livelihood

One out of every 15 families in the U. S. is dependent on milk for a livelihood.

"To Provide for the Common Defense
... to Promote the General Welfare"

Corner-stone, for 156 Successful Years of the Free American System

The ultimate outcome of the war, and its duration, depends upon our ability to shift from peacetime production to war-time production speedily and completely. The Founders of Our Country had the foresight to recognize this fact when they wrote the preamble to the Constitution in Independence Hall 156 years ago.

"To promote the general welfare" is the goal of America at peace—the goal of individuals, communities, business enterprise, the state and the nation.

"To provide for the common defense" immediately becomes our united objective in time of war. This is what we think the Founders meant.

These simple words also have guided this, the greatest and richest nation, in developing America's system of free enterprise—free labor and free business. In times of peace, all persons, all industries, have worked toward better, happier lives for Americans everywhere. In this time of war, today, we all have rallied to meet the enemy.

America has never lost a war. It will not lose this one. And it will go ahead after the war to new strength with the help of its system of free enterprise.

Today, the American system is rising to meet splendidly the job of "providing for the common defense." This system must be preserved so tomorrow it can pick up the task of "promoting the general welfare."

Look Americans! Since the beginning of time, the only road to prosperity has been P-R-O-D-U-C-T-I-O-N and exchange of goods and services at a profit—the American system of labor and business.

From it you have earned personal benefits—your home towns have enjoyed increasing advantages—and your nation has become the richest on earth.

THE AMERICAN SYSTEM HAS CREATED THESE TANGIBLE THINGS FOR YOU:

—the highest standard of living in the world;
—the accumulation of personal savings and worldly possessions—your schools, your highways, your buildings—your life insurance, your home, your automobile.
—money to pay the cost of government, local,

state and national, including the payment of governmental debt;
And with it, you have the right to think, to speak and to worship as you choose—rights forbidden to millions not living under the free American system.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

INSURANCE: British maritime insurance companies have reduced the war risk rates on cargoes to and from the United Kingdom to about half the former rate, reflecting the greater security of the seas.

RESTAURANTS: The nation's restaurants, hard pressed by food restrictions and difficulties in keeping employees, are serving 25 million persons daily.

PRESSURE COOKERS: The government has taken pressure cookers off the ration list, but all purchasers will be required to specify that they intend to use the cookers for preserving food. Retailers have been instructed to take the customer's word for it. Those wanting cookers for other purposes must make application with the War Food administration office in Washington.

Fine Entertainment at Point Loma High

Climaxing the semester's auditorium activities, Jolene Baldridge, commissioner of auditorium activities, presented an exchange program from San Diego high school, Thursday, Jan. 13. The program featured the school's dance band, girls' quartet, a girl vocalist, a boy vocalist, a dancer, and a talented banjoist.

Next week the boys' federation of Pt. Loma high school will present its traditional program for the year. It will feature the Pt. Loma swing band under the direction of Edward Janowsky. Directly responsible for the program is Kenny O'Neal, commissioner of boys' activities.

Save Thursday evening, Jan. 27th, 8 o'clock, to attend the drama department's public presentation for this semester. Students in the advanced drama class are now rehearsing the three-act comedy of youth "Ever Since Eve" for that date. Further announcements will be made but Yvonne Gerson, business manager, urges you to save the date, Jan. 27th.

Ocean Beach Library Notes

The Ocean Beach library located on the corner of Sunset Cliffs blvd. and Santa Monica ave., has received the first order of books for the New Year. Among the new books is Paul de Kruif's thought provoking book "Kaiser Wakes the Doctors." He tells the story of Henry J. Kaiser's medical plan which is already an active achievement for a hundred thousand men in the Kaiser industries. Paul de Kruif has caught the tremendous challenge of this plan which is told in full detail; of modern construction sites and in over crowded boom towns. The Kaiser plan is the opening gun of the medical battle on the home front.

Other titles are: Mayling Soon Chaing—Helen Hull; Russian Enigma—Wm. Chamberlain; Elements of Electrical Circuits and Machinery with Industrial Application—G. C. Blalock; Best Plays of 1942-43—Burns Mantle; Sky Is My Witness—Thomas Moore (a personal narrative of World War II); Through Japanese Barbed Wire—Gwen Priestwood (experiences of an escaped prisoner).

The only hope of avoiding war is to accept Christianity as a way of life, not only in our private affairs, but in all public and international contacts.—Cannon Sheppard.

The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life practice, and God's will must be universally done.—Mary Baker Eddy.

A sprig of green on the Mediterranean front; today it's camouflage or an American machine gun nest. To win quicker our soldiers must have munitions and materiel, more and more. To provide them all of us must buy more and more War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

Good Resolutions

THE beginning of a new year is considered the time for starting over again, the time to make resolutions to be kinder, to be happier, to help others more, to overcome bad habits, to trust God more. Every day, every moment, we can cast out false concepts, or thoughts, and accept only the true. Our health and harmony depend on how thoroughly this is done.

Every day is a new beginning. Each morning we can start afresh and resolve to live the day according to our highest sense of right, with renewed perseverance, purified motives, and honest purposes. However, it takes more than human resolutions to rise above difficulties, no matter how noble these resolutions may be. The Scriptures declare (1 John 1:5), "God is light, and in him is no darkness at all." When we seek God first, above all else, then we shall assuredly find Him, and in finding Him we shall find the highest good, good that overcomes evil, good that endures. . . .

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, says in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 15), "We must resolve to take up the cross, and go forth with honest hearts to work and watch for wisdom, Truth, and Love." . . . God gives the wisdom and courage to meet any situation that may arise, and to prove that God, good, is the only power. Sickness, poverty, sin, war, are not God-sent, but are errors caused by wrong thinking; and the understanding of God will overcome them. God is the loving Father of all, and does not send affliction. He sends only good. We need to become receptive to the good that He is constantly showering upon us.

We can begin today to claim our birthright of dominion over evil, and our inheritance of health, harmony, happiness, goodness. . . . Christ Jesus, in telling the people how to overcome lack of good in their lives, said (Matthew 6:33), "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." What and where is this kingdom that we must seek if we want good? It is within spiritual thinking. The Master also said that the only way to enter this kingdom or attain this consciousness of heavenly harmony so that good may be added to us, is to become as little children. Surely he must have meant that we must keep our thoughts free from envy, anger, pride, passion, and egotism, and learn to reflect the attributes of Love, in kindness, humility, purity, and selflessness. We can watch our thoughts more closely each moment and know that man, God's idea, reflects God, good. As we do this, we shall find that good will be added unto us in all our ways.

Mrs. Eddy says (Science and Health, p. 514): "In the figurative transmission from the divine thought to the human, diligence, promptness, and perseverance are likened to 'the cattle upon a thousand hills.' They carry the baggage of stern resolve, and keep pace with highest purpose." . . . When our motives are right, these qualities of stern resolve will enable us to be victorious over evil. So we learn, not alone on New Year's Day, but every day, to seek God, good, with all our hearts, knowing that we shall surely find Him.

Today, when the world so greatly needs peace, needs to accept the Christ, Truth, "which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29), we can do much wherever we are to help dissolve the world's discord by knowing that God is omnipotent and omnipresent, and that this ever-present and all-powerful good will be made manifest as we do our part in our own thinking to establish peace and righteousness. . . . We can forget the mistakes and heartaches and errors of the past, and reach out and grasp God's hand, resolving to "go forth with honest hearts to work and watch for wisdom, Truth, and Love," and to reflect these qualities to all around us.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Life" will be the subject of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text, chosen from 1 John reads: "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son."

According to a Lesson-Sermon passage from John, Jesus came to Bethany and found that his friend Lazarus "had lain in the grave four days already." "Take ye away the stone," he commanded. "And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me. And I knew that thou hearest me always: but because of the people which stand by I said it, that they may believe that thou hast sent me. And . . . he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth. And he that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with graveclothes: . . . Jesus saith unto them, Loose him, and let him go."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy says: "Our great example, Jesus, could restore the individualized manifestation of existence, which seemed to vanish in death."

The brotherhood of man is an integral part of Christianity no less than the Fatherhood of God; and to deny the one is no less infidel than to deny the other.—Lyman Abbott.

Events are only the shells of ideas; and often it is the fluent thought of ages that is crystallized in a moment by the stroke of a pen or the point of a bayonet.—E. H. Chapin.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former newspaper feature editor, has been inducted into the army and is nearing his completion of basic training at Fort Bragg, N. C. He has been classified as cook and in addition his failure to master some of the fundamentals of army training have resulted in considerable extra KP duty for him. He has also learned the finer points of "goldbricking" and "shooting the breeze." Hargrove has become editor of a section of the camp paper and these duties have kept him away from a lecture series. As we pick up the story, his sergeant is assigning him once more to KP for this infraction. Hargrove is trying to explain. He speaks:

CHAPTER XIV

"Sergeant, for days I round up news from battery reporters. There is always too much or too little. When there is too little, I have to write what is needed. When there is too much, I have to choose which battery reporter is going to horse-whip me for leaving his copy out."

"The chaplain is right up the street," the sergeant said. "Then I have to edit all the copy, delete all classified military intelligence and take out all nasty cracks at first sergeants. Then I have to write headlines for all the stories and place them in whatever space I can find for them. Then I must draw everything up into pretty little pages. This is tedious and nerve-racking work."

"The chaplain will give you a sympathetic ear," the sergeant said. "I will give you only KP. Does anything you are saying relate to what we're talking about—why you weren't in the mess hall yesterday afternoon?"

"I was getting around to that, sergeant. On the day before the paper is issued, I have to go into Fayetteville to keep a careful watch over the printers, to see that they don't put Third Regiment news on the Fourth Regiment page. If I am not there, they may even mix headlines and put church notices under 'Service Club Activities.' It is necessary that I be there."

The sergeant coughed. "I feel for you, Private Hargrove; I deeply sympathize. I wouldn't think of putting you on KP—"

"You wouldn't?" I gasped eagerly.

"Don't interrupt," the sergeant barked. "As I was saying, I wouldn't think of putting you on KP—if you hadn't committed a breach of etiquette by failing to RSVP the invitation. You didn't tell us you weren't coming. Or why."

I was dozing peacefully at my typewriter the other morning when there came a knock on my elbow and a bright young voice shouted "Hey!" at me. I looked up into the impish, cheerful, and unquenchably mischievous face of the boss' daughter, Miss Sidney Winkel, age four.

"Let's be reasonable, Pvt. Mulvehill," I said. "As you know, I am working on Capt. Winkel's sympathies to get a furlough."

Miss Winkel was dressed like the Navy and looked entirely too energetic for such a drizzly morning.

"I'm to be the Valentine," she said, "and Johnny's going to take my picture and you're to take me up to the Service Club and carry Johnny's things for him and wait for him to get there so you'd better put on your jacket and cap and let's go."

"I'm going to have my picture taken with Spud Parker," she added. Spud Parker is the general's son and is considered quite an eligible bachelor by the younger set.

"There's Tom in the cafeteria," she said. "Let's go see Tom."

Thomas James Montgomery Mulvehill, Pfc., was apparently making his morning rounds in search of news. He was, at the moment, engaged in his daily research in the Service Club's toast and coffee.

"Hello, sis," he said. "Hello, McGee. Pull up a chair. McGee, get the lady a drink. Something tall and cool. Such as a chocolate milk. What's the deal, sis?"

"I'm to be the Valentine," she said, "and Johnny's going to take my picture and old Hargrove has to take care of Johnny's stuff until Johnny comes and I don't like him anyway because he makes faces and sticks out his tongue and says sticks and snails and puppy-dog tails that's what little girls are made of and he's not my boy friend anyway."

"No punctuation," I said. I wagged my ears and stuck out my tongue at her.

"The next time I come," she said, "I'm going to bring some soap and every time he sticks out his tongue I'm going to put soap on it because it isn't nice to stick out your tongue." She emphasized her statement by paralyzing my wrist with her fist and sticking her tongue out at me.

"Let's have no unnecessary vibrations, McGee," said the Lieut. as, looking up reproachfully over his glasses. "Coffee is five cents the cup." He beamed at her. She beamed back at him.

"I have seven boy friends," she said, raising one forefinger delicately and rubbing the other against it in a highly jeering gesture. "I have seven boy friends and you're not one of them and you're not anybody's boy friend." She hit me this time on the elbow and I made a horrible face at her.

"Myaah," I said. "Who wants to be your boy friend anyway?" "I wish you wouldn't blow smoke," she said. "It makes me cough and it's not nice to smoke anyway. Old cigarettes!"

I wearily crushed my last cigarette in the ash tray. "Women, the eternal reformer," I sighed. "It wasn't like this in the Old Army." Miss Sidney Winkel took off her sailor cap and arranged her big red hair ribbon. "You're a nasty old thing and you're not nice like Johnny and Tom and Lieutenant Meek and Captain Wilson and all my other boy friends," she said. After a pause she added, airily, "And Major Long and Captain Quillen, too."

"Myaah," I sighed, wrinkling my nose more violently.

"Oh there's Johnny," she suddenly cried, "and he's going to take my picture and—" She tripped off with a bewitching smile for Bushemi and a running line of babble.

"No punctuation," I said to Mulvehill.

"It's a woman's world, McGee," he said, reaching for another slice of toast.

"Get him away from me, Bushemi!" roared Private Thomas James Montgomery Mulvehill. "He's got that gleam in his eye. Get him away!"

"You're just being difficult, Lieut.," I told him. "Just sit down and relax." The Lieut. laid his enormous frame on the bunk and started slapping his knees in utter despair.

"What kind of deal are you trying to swindle this time?" he asked. "Let's be reasonable, Private Mulvehill," I said, patting him reassuringly on the shoulder. "As you know, I am now working on Captain Winkel's sympathies to get a furlough sometime in February . . . the first half of February."

"I know what's coming," he screamed. "And I won't do it! I can't do it!"

"Now, as you know, furloughs are laden with little expenses—necessary little expenses. To help me along with the load, Sergeant Sher and Private Bushemi have already made philanthropic little loans. I have your name on my honor roll here, Lieut. What's the donation?"

The Mulvehill cringed and edged away. "What do you need—from me?"

"Well," I estimated, "I should say that ten dollars."

"Great gods and refugee children," he gasped. "Ten dollars he says yet! Why don't you ask me for my life's blood? Six dollars he owes me already and now he's asking—oh, I can't stand it! I can't stand it! Take him away!"

"My life's blood," he moaned. "Where's the six I lent you two months ago?"

"That was only five weeks ago," I reminded him gently, "and I've already paid two of that back. Three weeks ago I paid it back."

"Yeah," he protested, "but you borrowed it back the next day." He rose and paced the floor. "What are they doing to me? My life's blood they would draw from my veins? Thirty-six measly little dollars a month I make—and he wants ten dollars! Maybe I'm Winthrop Rockefeller I should lend out ten dollars a clip! Thirty-six dollars, and he wants half!"

"You see, Lieut., a sad and work-worn creature—an Alice sit-by-the-fire whose only hope for the future is in the faint glimmering hope of a furlough. Day after day, week in and week out, I have worked my frail fingers to the shoulder blade to make things pleasant for you and Bushemi and Bishop. I have patched your quarrels with the mess sergeant. I have saved you from the terrible wrath of provoked Rebels. I have sat here at night, sewing buttons on my blouse so that you wouldn't have to wear it hanging open on your merry jaunts to town. Money could not pay for the things I have done for you and Bushemi. And now this. Ten dollars between me and spiritual starvation—and no ten dollars. How sharper than a serpent's tooth."

"Don't talk like that, Hargrove," he said, his voice cracking. "Put me down for ten."

There was a little note stuck in my typewriter when I came back from prowling for news. It looked like Private ("One-Shot") Bushemi's typing. "The stockholders of the Union of Hargrove's Creditors," it read, "will hold a business meeting this evening about seven o'clock in the latrine of Barracks No. 2, Headquarters Battery. Please be present or we will beat your head in."

It was the day before my furlough, so I got the general drift. The vultures who were contributors to the furlough would probably stand around frowning and figure out some sort of budget for my vacation. I could picture the blue-nosed demons slashing away at my enjoyment.

The meeting had an unexpectedly small attendance: Maury Sher, mess sergeant of Battery D of the Third and chairman of the ways and means committee of the Union; Private Bushemi, principal stockholder and president; and Private First Class Thomas James Montgomery Mulvehill, chaplain.

Private Mulvehill beamed. "Sergeant Hart sends his regrets. He has a heavy heavy in Lillington. He is with us in spirit, though."

"Come in, drip," said Bushemi.

Sergeant Sher got down to business. "I've got to hand it to you, son," he said. "Gone through this much of the month and still haven't tried to get any of your furlough money back from the chaplain! We're all proud of you."

"Shucks," I blushed. "Twern't nothin'. I was able to bum a cigarette here and there."

"McGee," said Mulvehill, clearing his throat, "you leave tomorrow for New York, where there are many snares to trap the unwary. Don't buy any gold watches in the park or any stolen furs anywhere. You know, I presume, about buying the Brooklyn Bridge."

"Now, we don't have any restrictions about the way you use your money," said Bushemi. "Only last time you spent too much money on taxicabs. You'll have to use the buses and subway more this trip. All the shows you want to see, all the books you can buy—but taxicabs only for very special dates."

"Somebody has been exaggerating this taxicab—" I began.

"Taxicabs," Sher broke in, "only for very special dates. You may go to the opera once if you sit downstairs and twice if you sit in the Family Circle. You are not to buy more than six theater tickets. In uniform, you can see all the movies you want for two bits each."

"And be conservative in tipping the waiters," said Mulvehill, tapping his glasses on the window sill. "Very conservative. Short-change them, if necessary."

"Tell him about the budget," said Bushemi, with unnecessary impatience.

"As the matter stands on the furlough deal," said Sher, "you owe Bushemi 22 dollars, me 10, Mulvehill 10, Hart 10. That's 52 dollars. Counting the ten you'll wire Bushemi for before the week's over, it's 62. With what money we have taken from you and given to the chaplain during the past few weeks, you should make out all right."

"Must I be treated as a child?" I asked.

"When you get back broke, McGee," said Mulvehill, "you are not to eat breakfast at the Service Club. You are not to take out any post exchange books. You will get your cigarettes from Sergeant Sher, who will ration them out to you as per budget."

Sergeant Sher, Private Bushemi, and the other members of the Union of Hargrove's Creditors would have been quite pleased at the sight. Instead of spending their money lavishly on taxicab sightseeing trips and expensive shows, I was dining quietly in a conservative grillroom with the Redhead. We weren't even discussing ways to spend their hard-earned money.

"Little man," she said, "will you please ask the waiter for more water?"

"I beg your pardon," he said, rather unctuously. "There is a fifteen million gallon shortage in water at this very instant. On the other hand, madame, all supply ships to Great Britain use Scotch whisky as ballast for the return trip. Perhaps madame would like a glass of Scotch whisky?"

The Redhead lifted an eyebrow.

"I wonder," she said, "what they use in the finger bowls here—rubbing alcohol? I do not want Scotch whisky. I want water."

"It is as madame wishes," the waiter said, bowing from the knees. He walked away and returned again to lean against a post. The Redhead drummed her fingers on the tablecloth.

"Don't be afraid of him," said the Redhead. "Call his bluff."

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Entertain Simply, But Do Entertain Even in Wartime

One small recipe can provide two dozen of these small, fluffy cake-cakes which will be a delight at any get-together for your dessert luncheon or afternoon refreshment. They're particularly nice for a birthday.

Now that you've finished entertaining the family and relatives during the holidays, you can get back to your club work and social activity in earnest.

Most of us, from either the budget or ration point consideration, cannot afford to entertain for luncheon as we did formerly, but we can still afford the same gracious hospitality, even with less food for our guests. Should you wish to entertain at luncheon, do so with a simple salad, sandwiches or beverage. Or, it's very fashionable to entertain at a dessert and beverage luncheon.

A simple cake to go nicely with your dessert luncheon or afternoon refreshment is this one. The surprise item is coconut which now has found its way, even though in small quantity, to some markets:

*Coconut Candle Cakes. (Makes 2 dozen small)

1½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons double acting baking powder
½ cup butter or substitute
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon lemon or vanilla extract
1 cup moist sweetened coconut
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and sift together 3 times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add flavoring. Turn into lightly greased cupcake tins filling ¾ full. Bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven 20 minutes or until done. Frost with snowy lemon frosting and sprinkle with moist, sweetened coconut. Arrange cakes on a platter and insert candle holder with candle on each cake.

Snowy Lemon Frosting.

2 egg whites, unbeaten
1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind

Combine egg whites, sugar, water and lemon juice in top of double boiler, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beating constantly with rotary egg beater and cook 7 minutes or until frosting stands up in peaks. Remove from boiling water, add lemon rind and beat until thick enough to spread. Makes enough frosting for 2 dozen cupcakes.

Well-seasoned finger sandwiches made from flaked fish will go well with an aspic salad for a very lovely luncheon:

Lynn Says

Bits of Wisdom: Gentle treatment is the rule for eggs. They are liable to get tricky if you use anything else. Pare, not peel potatoes. You'll be able to see the difference. When boiling potatoes, be sure to use boiling water, plenty of salt. For mashed potatoes, use enthusiasm plus a wooden spoon and don't spare either. Waffles should be crisp. Don't open the waffle baker while the iron is steaming. That means it's cooking. Recipes are a chart and a guide. Good cooks as well as brides need them—then you can always get good results, avoid failure. Save Used Fats!

*Tomato Aspic Vegetable Salad. (Serves 8)

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
2 cups tomato juice
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ cups grated raw carrot
½ cup sliced celery
2 green onions, sliced
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives
Mayonnaise or salad dressing
Soak gelatin in cold water. Heat 1 cup tomato juice to boiling. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add celery, salt, grated onion, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice and remaining tomato juice. Stir to blend. Pour into a ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Fill center with carrot, celery, green onions and olives which have been mixed with salad dressing.

This satisfying main course is prepared by melting ¼ pound of process cheese with ½ cup evaporated milk, seasoning with Worcestershire sauce and ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, then serving on toast with poached egg. It's delicious.

Dieting friends will welcome this combination custard and cake dessert because it doesn't contain as many calories as rich desserts. It's delicate and ideal when served with tea for afternoon refreshment.

Lemon Cups. (Serves 6)

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter or substitute
3 egg yolks, beaten
¼ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk, scalded
5 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Cream together sugar and butter. Add egg yolks. Beat in flour and salt. Add milk. Stir in lemon juice and rind. Fold in egg whites. Pour into custard cups. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees. Bake for 35 minutes longer or until a toothpick thrust into the center comes out dry. Chill. Serve directly from custard cups.

Your guests, young or old, will like these attractive corsages. They're very much edible and good, too!

Poppcorn Corsages. (Makes 16)

1 cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon vinegar
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon red food coloring
6 cups popped corn

Combine sugar, water, vinegar, corn syrup and salt; stir until sugar dissolves. Cook to hard ball stage (265 degrees F.). Remove from heat; add butter and coloring. Reserve small amount of syrup for fastening wooden skewers. Pour over popped corn, stirring constantly. Form into two-inch balls. Dip skewers into syrup; push into balls. Back with lace-paper doilies and cellophane circles. Tie on bows of ribbon or cellophane.

If you want sugar-saving suggestions, write to Lynn Chambers, Western Newspaper Union, 210 South Dearborn Street, Chicago 6, Illinois. Don't forget to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1917 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 14 (32) weskit.

Capital Punishment

Since 1928, the states that impose a life sentence for murder have decreased from 8 to 6, while those that execute by hanging have decreased from 19 to 10, says Collier's. Those inflicting the penalty by electrocution have increased from 20 to 24, while those using hydrocyanic gas have increased from 1 to 8.

Incidentally, Utah still gives the condemned man a choice of being hanged or shot.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nationwide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor.

Found Gen. 'Ike' Pinch Hitting at Switchboard

This revealing story was relayed from North Africa:
An important midnight telephone conference was being held at General Eisenhower's headquarters. The young soldier at the switchboard was working his head off with calls all over North Africa. The G.I. had a slight fever but he didn't want to tell anybody about it. Finally, though, a lull came in the conference and his captain ordered him to lie down for a while.

About an hour later, he awoke from his doze and heard the switchboard going full-blast. Wondering who could have possibly replaced him at 2 a. m., he went back to his board, found Eisenhower running the switchboard for his own conference.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT

Low costs prevailing, post-war world consumption of natural and synthetic rubber may total 2,000,000 tons a year, is the prediction made recently by John L. Collier, president of The B. F. Goodrich Co. This would be nearly twice as much as ever consumed in a record year to date.

Some 32 million pounds of rubber will be needed by the Army Signal Corps this year for insulating W-110-B wire used in maintaining direct communications. An additional 4 million pounds will be required for friction and splicing tape. Just two of the many rubber-using items of this Army branch.

Toast is a Host in Itself!

It is said that in no country in the world is toast so popular as in the United States. The reason, no doubt, is because toast is so quick to come to the aid of the clever homemaker. As a nation we welcome anything that simplifies and adds variety to living.

Toast offers a firm foundation for many an appetizing and substantial dish... creamed mushrooms, chicken, tuna fish. Toast is a host in itself when served with fruit salad, supplying many of the food elements that complement the vitamins and minerals contained in the fruit and lettuce.

Topped with a sweet spread, toast with tea provides the quick pick-up for flagging energy.

There is as much variety in "toasts" as there are breads, and no matter what bread is chosen, there is just one simple rule for toast-making. Toast it quickly so that it will be crisp on the outside but soft in the center.

Cut, fresh from the loaf and crisped in the toaster—orange bread toast is delicious and the perfect accompaniment to a fruit salad. Made with the new blended shortening it fairly melts in the mouth.

Orange Bread
1/4 cup blended 3 teaspoons shortening 1/4 cup sugar 1 egg 2 cups sifted flour 3 tbs. orange rind
Cream blended shortening and sugar. Add egg, mixing thoroughly. Sift flour, baking powder, salt together. Add alternately with orange juice. Fold in grated orange rind. Do not overmix. Bake in an 8x5 1/2 x 2 1/2 loaf pan in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour.
